Good news! We now have running water in our bathroom area. What a relief! We finally were able to get a technician up here to work on it and it was taken care of quickly. We are so thankful. The next step will be to lay pipes and install plumbing fixtures in the washroom and kitchen area. But for now we are just thankful to be able to flush our toilets.

August was a busy month as we continued to improve the property and prepared to take in babies. We had three volunteers with us this month. Two were here from July through September and one was here for 3 weeks in August. Because of this extra help and due to limited funds we laid off our main construction staff halfway through the month and concentrated on other projects that were not dependent on skilled workers.

While our construction staff was here we did a lot of cement work including finishing the wall lining the courtyard. We also installed more doors and glass windows.

Our volunteers helped with painting indoors and outdoors in various rooms including the kitchen, dining room and bathrooms. One young man did a large amount of stone grinding on the playroom floor. He also varnished this floor afterward. We planted 30 poplar trees around the main building.

In the middle of the month we hired a team of workers to thatch the main house's roof. This lowered the temperature inside by 10-15 degrees which was a great blessing since temperatures have been over 100° F—even going up to 115°F one day.

We improved one part of our kitchen by building an island in the middle. We built a cement base and contracted a carpenter to build a beautiful hardwood tabletop. It makes a real difference for food preparation.

We also took 2 trips to the capital city, Lusaka, to buy supplies for the orphanage. The baby room is looking like a real nursery now with the shelves of baby clothes and diapers and bottles. The cribs stand ready and waiting. All we need now are the babies. We now have four sponsors. Will you join the list?

spection went very well as we met with four different government departments. They will make the decision this week but told us to expect a positive result. They mentioned a couple of items we still need such as fire extinguishers and so we are working on completing those tasks.

There is still much to be done in improving this orphanage and completing the first stages of this project. We will be working to train staff and coordinate with Social Welfare. We are also working to organize our agriculture area before the rains come in November. Please keep praying for us. We need your support! Thank you!
